

The Power Animal Essences

About the essences...

Similar to flower essences, which contain the healing energy of plants, the Power Animal Essences contain the healing energy of animal spirits.

No animals are captured, or harmed in any way, in making the essences. The essences contain no physical animal parts. They are made by processes that include methods drawn from shamanism, our oldest spiritual tradition.

Shamans believe that a strong connection to nature is vital to health and wellbeing. In particular, animals have a healing energy and spirit, and want to help us by allowing us to connect with and draw upon their different qualities and powers.

The Power Animal Essences carry the archetypal energy of specific animals. They act as a bridge between us and the animal world, helping us to draw upon an animal's qualities in a gentle and supportive way.

What are the Power Animal Essences?

The Power Animal Essences are a form of vibrational essence. Other kinds of vibrational essences include: flower essences; gem elixirs; environmental essences; sound and colour essences. All contain an energetic imprint of the substance, area or energy from which they are made. The Power Animal essences contain the energetic imprint of different animals, contained in water and preserved in organic vodka.

How are they made?

No animals are captured, or harmed in any way, in making the essences. The essences contain no physical animal parts. They are made by processes that include shamanic methods. Shamanism is our oldest spiritual tradition. It has been practiced for tens of thousands of years, in every place in the world where humans have settled. Central to shamanism is the idea that vital to health is a strong connection with the natural world. In particular, shamans believe that animals have a healing energy and spirit, and that animals want to help us by allowing us to connect with and draw upon their different qualities and powers. The essences carry the archetypal energy of specific animals, and are made with the loving and willing support of the animal spirits. They act as a bridge between us and the animal world, allowing us to draw upon an animal's qualities in a gentle and supportive way.

Taking the essences...

There are several ways to take the essences...

- They may be taken directly from the bottle. The recommended dose for is three or four drops, up to three times a day, directly into your mouth (being careful to avoid touching your mouth with the pipette in order to keep it clean), or into a glass of water. It is the frequency of the dosage that is important, not how much is taken. Taking a larger amount does not give you a 'bigger' dose.
- Alternatively, you can make up another bottle by filling a dropper bottle with a 50/50 mixture of water and brandy or vodka (the alcohol acts as a preservative). Into this, place a few drops of the essence, then shake the new bottle vigorously to activate it. In this way, a bottle can be made combining the energies of several Power Animal Essences. It is suggested that up to a maximum of four Power Animal Essences can be added to make a combination bottle. This combination bottle is then used as above (i.e. three or four drops, up to three times a daily). If you prefer not to use alcohol to preserve the essence, you may make them with just spring water. In this case, keep them in the fridge and consume within a couple of weeks.
- A few drops of the essences may be added to baths. They may also be made up into spray bottles. Or they can be rubbed directly into the skin (especially into points such as the temples, abdomen, wrists, and the top of the head). Alternatively, a few drops can be added to a bottle of water, and the contents drunk throughout the day.

The essences may be taken as one-off doses in acute situations, or for prolonged periods of days, weeks or even months where necessary.

Common questions...

Can I take the Power Animal Essences whilst using other medication? Yes. The essences do not negatively interact with any other kind of medicine, natural or otherwise. The same goes for any other kind of treatment – acupuncture, massage, or whatever! They are safe to use alongside any other healing method.

Do the essences have side-effects? No! The essences are completely, safe, free from side effects and are self adjusting to the needs of the individual taking them.

Can they be used with children or animals? Yes. Both children and animals often respond very well to the energy of the essences. Children especially can often easily relate to the idea of the essences as animal helpers – it makes perfect sense to them!

What if I took the 'wrong' essence, or took 'too much' of an essence? You would be fine! The essences are very safe and self regulating. If you took the 'wrong' essence, nothing would happen. For the essence to work there has to be a resonance between your energy and that of the essence you are taking; no resonance, no reaction. As for taking too much, even if you swallowed a whole bottle in one go, apart from the (negligible) effect of the alcohol preservative, there would be no additional effect.

How many essences can I take at once? It is generally fine to take up to four different animals together, although sometimes it is more effective to work with them one at a time. Taking more than four is not harmful, but usually less effective.

How do I choose an essence?

There are many different ways...

- You could simply read through the information on each of the individual essences and decide which ones are most appropriate. To narrow things down, it might help, when reading through the descriptions, to have a particular issue in mind that you want help with.
- You may simply feel drawn to a particular essence. In this case, you could follow your hunch or intuition.
- Sometimes getting feedback and the perspective of someone else may be useful. Ask a friend, your therapist, or someone else you trust, to pick the essence for you.
- For some people, methods such as dowsing or muscle-testing may work.
- Probably most powerfully though is to pay attention to what animal(s) seem to be around in your life at the moment, even if just in conversations, pictures in the media, or on television or the radio. What animal is trying to come through to you? Another way this might happen is in dreams, or even daydreams. Especially powerful could be any animal that has come to help you through shamanic journeying.

In the end, there is no right or wrong way to choose the essences. It is about what works for you.

The individual essences...

There are over 60 essences available so far, with more in development. To help with finding essences, they have been arranged into four groups, according to the four elements. These are...

- Air - the flying animals
- Fire - the hunters, carnivores and predators
- Water - animals that live in or around water
- Earth - the herd and grazing animals, and other herbivores

Obviously not all animals fit into these categories easily. Dragonfly could be put into either air or water, and Sea Eagle into air, fire or water. Nevertheless, the categories help group what would otherwise be a long list!

A special word about the Mythical Animals...

At the end of each section for each element, there are some Mythical creatures. Since no actual animal is needed in making the essences, they can be just as easily made using mythical animals and creatures. Anything that has a strong, archetypal energy can be made into an essence. Mythical creatures have an archetypal energy that is as least as strong as than of any animal.

The Integrative Range

The Power Animal Essences are part of the Integrative Range of Natural Remedies. The range includes the Harmonic Resonances, which combine the best from the whole field of vibrational remedies (homeopathy, flower essences, animal essences, gem elixirs, colour and sound remedies, and more), to make something entirely new and unique. Details can be found at www.harmonic-resonances.co.uk. The website also has links to the other Integrative Range Remedies.

Therapeutic Shamanism
